

Willacy County Appraisal District

2024 Local Annual Report

The Willacy County Appraisal District “WCAD” is a political subdivision of the State of Texas. The provisions of the Texas Property Tax Code govern the legal, statutory and administrative requirement of the WCAD. Members of the Board of Directors “BOD” are elected by the Willacy County local taxing units and they must have lived within the Willacy County Boundaries for the two years prior to being eligible to serve on the WCAD BOD. The Chief Appraiser is appointed by the BOD and is the Chief Administrator of WCAD. WCAD has been charged with the responsibility of property tax appraisals and administration of both local option and state mandated property tax exemption whether they are partial or total and whether they are granted or denied or further information is deemed necessary for completion.

The WCAD does not collect taxes. The local taxing units (jurisdictions) such as the Willacy County, Schools, Cities and special taxing units set their individual tax rate using your property tax appraisal value that is issued by the Willacy County Appraisal District. Willacy County Appraisal District serves the following eighteen (18) taxing units.

WCAD maintains approximately 19,934 parcels which are comprised of property types such as residential, commercial, industrial business, business commercial, industrial personal properties, utilities, oil production, gas production, windfarms and pipelines. Lyford CISD is served by three (3) appraisal districts: Willacy, Cameron and Hidalgo.

Exemption Information: Willacy County Appraisal District has various state mandated exemptions that taxpayers may qualify for by applying at the appraisal district.

Homestead Disabled Person, Homestead Age 65 or Over and Surviving Spouse residential exemptions may be submitted to WCAD for processing. An adult homeowner may qualify for one residential homestead exemption in a tax year. If more than one adult homeowner owns a home only the person(s) that live in the residence may qualify for homestead exemption based upon the percentage (%) of their ownership in the home. A homestead may include up to 20 acres of land that is actually being used as a home residence. To qualify for a homestead exemption, the owner must reside in the home (residence) on January 1st of the current year.

The age 65 or older/Disabled exemption includes a tax limitation for some jurisdictions (freeze ceilings). The filing of this type of exemption application is to be filed between January 1st and April 30th. Normally this type of exemption does not require an annual application. You may file a late application form if it is filed at the Willacy County Appraisal District no later than one year after the date the taxes become delinquent. There is also a Transfer of Tax Limitation (Freeze Ceiling Certificate) if you move within Texas, even within the Willacy County Appraisal District.

Agricultural 1-D-1 Open Space and Wildlife Management:

WCAD has five (5) categories of row crop land ranging from an average of 600# yield to 325# yield per average year. WCAD has five (5) categories of pasture land ranging from irrigated planted to minimal use pasture.

WCAD has five (5) categories of citrus ranging from newly planted trees to full production. Qualified open-space land does not become ineligible for special appraisal when a drought has been declared by the Governor of.

Texas allows for 1-D-1 Open Space {aka: Ag Use} under the Texas Constitution under article 1-d-1 (henceforth the name) if land is in use and has been in use for five of the seven preceding years. The assessed value of the land is based on averaged annual net income from typical lease agreements. There are strict deadlines that require an application before May 1st of the current year. A late application may be filed but will incur 10% late filing fee and SHALL be filed before the appraisal rolls have been approved for the current year which is usually July.

Changing the use of land that has received the tax deferral Ag Use to Non-Ag Use carries a penalty (a "Rollback" tax) of the tax due on the difference between the market value and the assessed value of the land being changed plus interest.

Texas State Property Tax Assistance Division

A Property Value Study is conducted annually by the State Property Tax Assistance Division to estimate the property value in each school district measuring the performance of each Appraisal District. If an Appraisal District is within 5% percent margin, the State Comptroller will certify the local appraised value to the Commissioner of Education. The findings of the study are in the school funding formula for state aid. WCAD has received local value.
